Ask the President

How long has KTCCU been around?

KTCCU was first chartered as a state credit union in 1949. At the time, the credit union's mission was to serve the employees of Kansas State Teachers College now called Pittsburg State University. The original credit union office was in the old bookstore on the college's campus.

The original founders were a group of college professors led by J.R. Pelsma, the first board president.

KTCCU now has five branches and serves residents in 51 Kansas counties. The credit union has grown from under $1 million in assets to over $130,000,000.
